CACREP accreditation

The University of Scranton's Rehabilitation Counseling Program is nationally accredited by the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP), the accrediting body for the counseling profession.

Students graduating from our CACREP accredited program may take the National Certification Exam for Rehabilitation Counseling (CRC) and/or the National Counselor Exam (NCE) both of which are a step towards becoming a Licensed Professional Counselor in most states.

REHABILITATION >> MISSION STATEMENT

The Clinical Rehabilitation Counseling program prepares students for careers in a variety of settings with the primary goal of acquiring and applying the specialized knowledge, skills, and values that will enable them to effectively assist and support individuals with disabilities throughout the rehabilitation process. The Rehabilitation program works towards this goal by creating an environment which encourages a commitment to lifelong learning, critical thinking, an understanding of community needs, resource development, creative problem solving, the development of a professional network, and appreciation of the skills and abilities of individuals with disabilities.

OBJECTIVES INCLUDE:

- enhance the knowledge of rehabilitation concepts and practices
- develop counseling skills necessary for functioning in rehabilitation settings
- increase awareness and sensitivity to disability issues
- prepare individuals for certification as rehabilitation counselors
- enhance individuals' employability in entry-level or advanced clinical positions in rehabilitation settings
