

Research Seminar Series

The Research Seminar Series was established to meet the need for a time and place for faculty and staff research information exchange. It began with our first research presentation on February 4, 2005. In its essence, the series is intended to build community and collegiality by setting the venue for you to communicate to others just what you do. It's casual and fun: a great way to relax, meet faculty from various disciplines and get a good feel for the University community at its best. We hope you'll join us!

The series runs Fridays from 3 to 4:30pm on the dates specified below. Approximately 16 events are held per academic year, with about 30 participants at each event. Attendance is growing! Don't miss these valuable opportunities to learn what others are doing on campus as well as share your own ideas!

2010-11 was jam-packed with great presentations! Special thanks goes out to all those who presented, and to all those who attended. The ORSP staff appreciates your support!

We're gearing up for the next round of Research Seminar Series events. Just scroll down to see the dates and venues for the 2011-12 academic year. All events are held in TDC 405 unless otherwise indicated. Presenters and their topic titles will be posted soon, so check back at this space for updates. Meanwhile, mark your calendar now! 'Hope to see you all there!

Are you interested in presenting? We're always interested in your research! Call Tabbi Miller-Scandle (x6353) or e-mail MillerT4@scranton.edu.
