

Jesuit Universities Humanitarian Action Network

Sixth Biennial Student Leadership Conference at The University of Scranton

June 14-16, 2019

Theme: Health & Humanitarianism

JUHAN 2019 presents opportunities for faculty, students, and staff to develop in global learning. JUHAN was created to increase the effectiveness of efforts by Jesuit universities to respond to humanitarian crises in the United States and throughout the world. The principal focus of JUHAN is undergraduate education that seeks to advance humanitarian study and professional practice in the field of humanitarian action.

Participants will have an opportunity to share insights from their research, advocacy, teaching and service, as well as to learn from scholars and practitioners engaged in global humanitarian work. The JUHAN Student Leadership Conference 2019 at The University of Scranton provides opportunities for students to develop leadership skills necessary to pursue a humanitarian career.

- Keynote speakers • Paper & poster presentations • Career panels
- Networking opportunities • Resume preparation assistance

With the theme of "Health & Humanitarianism," we hope to explore the connection between justice in society and justice in health. According to Global Humanitarian Overview 2018, over 134 million people worldwide need humanitarian assistance and protection because of conflict and natural disasters. The aim of the conference is to bring together students, staff, and faculty who want to holistically serve the needs of others.

For more information about the conference, please visit scranton.edu/juhan. You may also contact the conference organizers via email juhan2019@scranton.edu.

THE UNIVERSITY OF SCRANTON
A JESUIT UNIVERSITY

Sponsored by the Ellacuría Initiative, Department of Political Science, and Department of Nursing at The University of Scranton & supported by the JUHAN network.